

Ethologische

Gesellschaft e.V.

Who are we?

international scientific society; open to all with an interest in all fields of Behavioural Biology founded 1978 and run by students and researchers from your research community

What do we do?

provide an international forum to present, exchange and publish ideas associated with the international journal "Ethology" support schools with teaching Behavioural Biology

Why become a member?

regular newsletter with book reviews, conference announcements and job vacancies annual meeting with awards for young scientists travel and research grants network of like-minded biologists more information and registration www.etho-ges.de

